We are, each of us in essence psychic, able to tune into that which is generally unseen, unheard and unfelt. Everyone has had at least one unexplainable psychic or intensely spiritual event in their lives, something unexplainable yet profound. Perhaps they may have had an overwhelming knowing, were visited by a loved one who has passed on or smelt their perfume or aftershave, had a prolific dream to awaken and find out that it had occurred, or had an angelic visitor that left them white feathers. I have heard so many amazing stories and I can't wait to hear yours. We are energetic beings. We are soul energy having a human experience, not humans having an energetic experience. We are energy and everything is made up of energy. When we die our bodies are left behind and we return to our true energetic form. When we reincarnate our energy is downloaded into a new vessel, and it is because we are all energetic beings that we are able to tune into anything, anywhere at any time.

What these courses cover

These courses offer an overview of the disciplines involved in working psychically and spiritually. They explore spiritual mindfulness and assist individuals to use their own energy to tune into their environment, just like tuning in a radio. It is in this tuning in that we are able to access unlimited information. These workshops start with the basics and build from there combining a mixture of talks, games, meditations and visualizations with the chance to practice and learn how to work with energy.

My name is Trace Robins. I was born in Melbourne, Australia and am privileged to have travelled widely but now call Manchester England my home.

From a young age I realised that I could see, feel and converse with spirits. For a long time this scared me and I struggled for many years, until I joined a psychic development circle. Here I met people with similar interests and learned that there are many outlets for the psychically aware.

This was the beginning of my journey. From here I studied and practiced and learned as many skills as possible. I use my psychic abilities daily in all of my client sessions no matter what a client comes to see me for. The ability to tune in and to decipher what a person is not saying is as important as what is voiced.

Along with the therapy side of my business, I also run a psychic development circle, do house and building clearings, assist on channelling retreats and run Wiccan training. I feel truly blessed to be able to do this amazing work, I understand its power and I do my best to never take that for granted.

Perhaps this information has resonated with you and you feel drawn to come along, if so I really look forward to helping you add psychic awareness and mindfulness to your own journey no matter what stage you are at.
